

Aidan Casino Heist Draft Script

Hey! Thank god you're here. My shift is just about to start. You may be wondering why you're here. Let me get to it. I've worked at this casino for several years, and well, recently I've caught on to some pretty shady stuff going on behind the scenes. I started as a dealer, and over time, I've become more involved in the owners' business. You see, this casino is rotten to the core. Games are rigged beyond belief, the money is flowing a bit too quickly, and I imagine the corruption goes much deeper. I can change that. We can change that.

My goal is to take over this place, but it will be challenging without help. That's where you come in. I have some friends in high places, notably at MI6, where you work. I requested agents to come help me take this place down, and you seem like a great fit. You see, these owners may be made of money, but they still gotta pay bills on this place. All of the money for the bills is kept in the vault at the end of each month. I want you to steal it. If you get this money for me, I can use it to buy the casino out of foreclosure once they go bankrupt. Then we can end the corruption here once and for all.

Here's the catch: I have work today. This means that I will be in there with you while you are robbing this place. However, I can't completely blow my cover. I'll be dealing blackjack, and I have to stay at my table. If customers or cameras see me doing anything suspicious, I could get caught and miss out on buying this place. However, we will make it work. If you need help, come see me and ask for a drink, then I could maybe whisper a hint to you...

Anyways, I've got to get inside for my shift, but y'all need to get ready. Throw on a disguise so you can blend in with the usual casino patrons. I'll see you on the inside. The first thing you've got to figure out is how exactly to get in. Good luck.